November 17, 1954 - September 7, 2020

Jean Culbertson Lewis (November 17, 1954) joined her Heavenly Father on Monday, September 7, 2020.

Wife and mother, Jean loved her husband Barry, daughters Katie and Elizabeth, and sons-in-law Andy and Josh fiercely. She cared for them, along with everyone that she came in contact with. Her gifts of service, creativity, and self-sacrifice were evident in her involvement in public schools, her church, and the surrounding community.

During the last decade, Jean endured a long struggle with depression, as she searched for purpose and peace. She also fought a four-year battle with peritoneal cancer. Despite her hardships, her love for her family, friends, and Savior never faltered.

Jean is survived by her husband Barry, children Katie and Andy Kerechanin and Elizabeth and Josh Temple, older brother Chuck Culbertson, and numerous friends, family, and acquaintances whom she blessed with her love.

Jean ends her earthly journey where it began, Charleston South Carolina. The service will be held on Friday, September 11, 2020, at 1 pm at Live Oaks Memorial Gardens located at 3093 Ashley River Road, Charleston South Carolina, 29414. Jean's wishes are that those attending wear bright colors and bring colorful umbrellas in case of rain.

In lieu of flowers, the family would appreciate donations be made in Jean's honor to the Foundations for Women's Cancer and/or the National Alliance on Mental Illness.

It is indeed a sad time. Jean was a very nice person and she fought such a brave fight. On behalf of our family I would like to express our heartfelt condolences to your family for your loss. She will live on in everyone's heart. We will never forget her 💔 Areta M and Carl F Zeigler

I don't know Carl Zeigler, but you must be a fine fellow! My wife and I have known Jean and Barry for many years. Our kids grew up together in Sumter and attended the same church for many years. We loved Jean and will miss her so much. Katie, Elizabeth, and Barry - I love the photo you've posted on this page.
