“ We have had several long talks over the years about Jayda and how he wanted the best for her. Some of the subject matter was difficult and hard, but he was never disrespectful, harse or mean spirited. Despite his shortcomings, I always liked Josh.

It saddens me that he struggled so hard in life, but I'm thankful that he is suffering no more.

“ Josh, I wish I could have talked to you more and helped you more. But I promise to continue to raise our son Brantley to be the best person in his lifetime. There will always be a piece of you here on Earth running around. I wish you could see your son right now, you would be so proud of him. RIP Josh, always remembered, never forgotten

“ You always told me to never worry about what people think they know about us because they believe only what they hear and not the truth anyway so this is for you doll. I'm never going to say goodbye because we promised we never would. I'll love you every second every minute every hour all day long. It will never stop or never end just like you love me with all the stars in the sky and all the fish in the sea. I'm going to miss our saying that to each other every single day without fail. I promise I'll keep saying it everyday. I know no one will never understand what we felt for each other or the demons that tormented you but we always understood each other's hearts and that's all that ever mattered to us. I so wish that I could have helped you. I'll miss you forever babydoll.
